College Avenue Fun Facts

The first intercollegiate football game was played between Rutgers and Princeton on November 6, 1869, right behind the College Avenue Gym where you parked! Rutgers won 6-4 and there's a commemorative plaque in the College Avenue Gym.

Rutgers was an original member of the Ivy League but decided to not sign the 1945 Ivy Group Agreement because it had been declared the state university by the New Jersey Legislature earlier that year.

William the Silent ("Willie" for short) is the statue of the Duke of Orange. Located in Voorhees Mall, this statue is a reminder of our Dutch heritage.

COLLEGE AVENUE CAMPUS

Self-Guided Tour

Walk from Lot 30 down Senior Street towards College Avenue. Cross the street and turn left towards Alexander Library.

1 Welcome to Alexander Library, the largest of our 21 libraries here at Rutgers-New Brunswick. Inside are multiple floors with quiet study rooms and computer labs. During finals week this library is open 24 hours. Leave Alexander Library and cross College Avenue. Turn left and walk into the College Avenue Gym.

2 The College Avenue Gym is free for students with their Rutgers ID. Inside you will find basketball courts, weight rooms, a pool, and a rock climbing wall. If you sign up for a "Flex Pass," you can go to as many recreation classes as you want for the semester. Exit the gym and turn right on College Avenue towards the College Avenue Student Center.

3 The College Avenue Student Center has a computer lab, a radio station, the offices of The Daily Targum (the second oldest college student newspaper), auditoriums for guest speakers, a convenience store, rooms for clubs to meet in, places to study and/or hang out with friends, and multiple vendors in the food court which accept cash, credit/debit, and RU Express, an optional debit system that is connected to your Rutgers ID card. Cross College Avenue towards Brower Commons.

4 Brower Commons is the dining hall for College Avenue. Our dining halls operate on an "all you care to eat" meal swipe system. First-year students that live on campus are required to have at least 210 meal swipes. Dining halls are open on weekdays from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. and on weekends from 9:30 a.m. to 8 p.m.. If you're on the go, you can also use a meal swipe to grab a takeout meal. Brower Commons is known for its many different flavors of ice cream. Exit Brower Commons, turn left, and walk down the stairs towards Records Hall.

To your left is Kreeger Learning Center, one of five learning centers. Each one offers free one-on-one and group tutoring for a wide range of subjects. Directly in front of you is Records Hall which houses the post office for the College Avenue Campus, the Office of Financial Aid, and a computer lab. Students have $30 of printing credit on their Rutgers ID card and can use any of the computer labs. Walk up the stairs to the right and enter Bishop Beach, the main on-campus housing area on College Avenue. Walk through Bishop Beach to Bishop Place. To your left is Hurtado Health Center, one of three health centers. Turn right on Bishop Place towards College Avenue and continue down College Avenue. Turn left onto Seminary Place, and turn right into Voorhees Mall via the pathway.

Voorhees Mall houses most of the academic buildings on College Avenue. When the weather is nice, students sit outside studying or relaxing. Van Dyck Hall is home to the History Department. The Graduate School of Education has 5-Year Education Certification & Master's programs for students that want to be teachers. Murray Hall houses the English Department. Milledoler Hall houses the Office for Undergraduate Research, which runs the Aresty research program for undergraduate students. The Art Library is connected to the Art History Department and Zimmerli Art Museum (free for students). New Jersey Hall is home to the Economics Department, which is next door to Scott Hall. Follow the pathway to Scott Hall and enter.

5 Scott Hall is home to lecture halls, classrooms, and a few departments on the upper levels. Despite Rutgers' large student body, only 7% of classes offered are in large lecture halls, and those are typically for general education classes. As students progress further into their major, their classes get smaller.

Continue back up College Avenue and turn left on Bartlett Street. Turn right onto Sicard Street and walk until you reach Lot 30. Thanks for visiting College Avenue campus at Rutgers University-New Brunswick!
